

The Colorado Access Community Innovation Pool Presents:
A Workshop Series on Black Maternal Health in Metro Denver

WHAT?: We are organizing a group of mothers and families, community organizations and leaders, medical providers, and others for a four-part series of innovation workshops.

WHY?: The goal is to co-create, design and fund solutions to overcome inequities in the health and wellness of Black mothers during pregnancy, childbirth and new motherhood. We want to make sure our health care system and support from the community ensure healthy moms and healthy babies.

WHEN?: This is a series of four workshops with one workshop per month. They will take place in July, September, October and November 2021. The July meeting will be conducted online with the possibility of hybrid or in-person meetings for the remainder of meetings.

WHO?: We are looking for people who represent four distinct perspectives:

1. Personal perspective – a willingness to share your personal story. We are looking for women who identify as Black and are currently pregnant, or have had a child (or children) within the last five years.
2. Family and community perspective – an understanding of the concerns from a variety of experiences of Black women and Black families.
3. Medical perspective – an understanding of medical services and supports that are provided to pregnant women and new moms.
4. Policy perspective – ability to discuss how policies are impacting pregnant Black women.

Do you need our support to participate?

We offer financial help for your time, and other supports if needed (technology, childcare, language interpretation, transportation, etc).

If you don't have access to a computer, please call us at 720-744-5505.

OPEN HOUSE – We'll be hosting an 'Open House' through Zoom or by phone where you can ask questions and learn more about the innovation workshop series. For more information, click here or visit surveymonkey.com/r/CIPMaternity.
